Sunrise Housing completed putting the building on the foundation December 29th 2005. Thank you to all who have prayed, encouraged, and given funds for this project. Without the faithfulness of the IAYM body, this would not be a reality. In the coming weeks there will be several jobs that we are looking for people to help with.

- Insert windows and doors to the basement.
- Install studs for walls in the basement.
- Lay laminate floor and carpet
- Paint interior of upstairs
- Build steps and landings to basement.

Contact Camp Quaker Heights if you can volunteer for these projects.

Mesquakie Friends Center "Soaring Eagles Camp"

a report from: Victor & Brenda White

In April of 2005 during Annual Meeting in Indiana we informed the Committee of our plans to have our own youth camp in Iowa for the first time. Unsure how things were going to work out, we began making plans for this big undertaking. First thing we prayed about was the financial situation we were in, like no money at all for camp. The Lord impressed it upon the hearts of many of you who sent funds to take care of that problem in a short period of time.

Our camp was held during the same time as camp in Oklahoma. We asked our people to think about a name for our camp and Derris Keahna gave the name "Soaring Eagles Camp" after listening to a pastor talking about the soaring eagles. Our camp theme was Genesis 1:1 "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." This verse was chosen because for us this was a new beginning for our center to have it's own camp.

Our first camp drew 26 campers from the Mesquakie Settlement and Ojibwa Reserve in Canada. Our own adults volunteered to cook three meals a day, help with crafts, and organize recreation activities. The Center bought 3 large tents to house all the girls and their counselors. The Boys Scouts loaned us tents and the Red Cross provided cots for the boys. Gary Mattson offered his campground for the boys to set up their tents. The ladies from Grinnell, LeGrand, Marshalltown and Bangor-Liberty provided some wonderful desserts for our meals. Bangor-Liberty's VBS kids collected a variety of paper products for the camp and the ladies even provided one of the meals for us. A man from the Fellowship Baptist Church came and sprayed the area for mosquitoes.

We were very pleased and thankful for the response we received for our first summer camp. We hope next year God will allow us to have camp here at Mesquakie again.

FRIENDLY FLASHES

“ When I felt my feet slipping, you came with your love and kept me steady. And when I was burdened with worries, you comforted me and made me feel secure”

Psalms 94: 18-19

We had our Christmas program last night and enjoyed a time of fellowship afterwards. Over the years this program has changed but the message is still the same. That eternal message of God's unconditional love to all of mankind, told by the voices of children in both word and song. This time of year, the advent season, is a time of reflection not only on this past year but all the years that have preceded tonight.

I no longer make New Year's resolutions because I can't remember them. I do however remember so clearly, vividly the times when God has whispered in my ear. The first was watching a reenactment of Jesus birth at a Christmas program. Walking home with my parents afterwards in the cold crisp air, seeing the stars over head and feeling awestruck at the power and love of God. I went with my parents and brothers a few years later to hear the Blackwood Brothers sing at our church. It was beautiful, but the only song I remember was Just A Closer Walk With Thee. And in my heart I responded, "yes, yes" that is what I want too.

Now here we are on the eve of 2006, that so distant future I couldn't even imagine back in the 40's and 50's. 2000 was much to far away and I would be soo OLD by then. My how those years have flown by and I don't feel old at all, until I look in the mirror. But if I leave my glasses off I still look fairly young!

The verse from Psalms is one of the verses that I claimed as my own because God highlighted it for me as I read one day. Oh, the times He has kept me from slipping into despair, when sorrow struck my life. The times when He whisper slowdown just as I came near a corner or blind curve in the road, and so I missed a car or deer I hadn't seen. The times He kept me steady when decisions needed to made in a crisis or when danger stuck it's head in my car window. When prayers were needed for someone's safety or when a job was needed, He kept me on the road and let me know He was there shouldering the burden for me or someone else.

This past summer when I left the post office and started my surgeries to repair the arthritis damage, I faced the first {a knee replacement} with no fears. Almost floating on the prayers of those around me, I knew I was secure in God's arms. I had a fusion done on my right big toe two months after the knee replacement and never have had any pain. Now I know I am sometimes a trial for my heavenly Father. I don't always pay attention as I move or I move when I know I am supposed to wait for help. After both surgeries (doing things I shouldn't have been doing) I fell. After my knee surgery I was in the back room of the shop with cement floors, carrying bags of groceries. I went flying, throwing bags right and left and thinking, "no, no not my new knee". Somehow He spun me around and put me on my seat in a pile of tires! Less then 24 hours after the toe surgery, I stood up to walk on two crutches and one foot, lost my balance and hopped {somehow} across the room. Once again I ended on my backside with NO damage to the surgery. I was truly secure in His arms and in His unconditional love in spite of my reckless behavior.

No, I don't make resolutions, I just look back over my walk with God so far and marvel at His faithfulness. I look forward to our walk together in 2006. I hope you do too.

God Bless, Linda B.

: Meeting Moments :

Motor Friends: It was a busy spring and summer at Motor Friends with many special events in addition to the regular worship services. The Christian Ed committee sponsored a number of events: a bowling party in February, a skating party in March, an evening at an Iowa Cubs game in June, a swimming party in July and a trip to the Goodhue corn maze in October. Their summer VBS program had an average attendance of 34 and a special offering was designated for the Belize Boy's School. In August Rod Brouer, of Newton, shared about the mission of the "Inner Change Freedom Initiative" at the Newton Correctional Facility. They had 23 campers and 14 adults participate in the summer camping sessions at CQH. Jennie Putz reported about her mission trip to the Bahamas which was followed by lunch at the church. The Traditional Rally Day was held with games and contests for all ages. Art Bryant spoke on behalf of the Gideons International in September. And in October, Ric Garrison and Luke McCracken (and friends) presented to worship service on behalf of CQH.

Bangor-Liberty: The congregation participated in a "White Gift" offering on Christmas Eve. This offering was taken to support the Stork's Nest (a resource for mother's who need help with baby things) and also to help Morgan Martin with her mission trip to Tanzania, where she and 8 fellow followers of Christ will be working with missionaries who are already living and working in Tanzania.

Fairfield Friends: "The Heart of CHRISTMAS" musical was presented at the Christmas morning worship service. It presented the gift of Jesus and challenged each one with what to do with this wonderful gift.

College Avenue Friends: The congregation was challenged this Christmas season to give to the Crisis Intervention Services by donating to the "wish list" of items needed for their local programs. The Sunday School program was December 11th. The theme was "The Drama of Christmas" and their White Gift was designated to Friends United Meeting. Eleanor Hoover was the coordinator for this year's CROP walk. Caroline Jaennette and daughter Kristine, and Erin Patterson and daughter Anneliese were this year's walkers.

Marshalltown Friends: This year's White Offering was collected during the Christmas Program. Boxes were distributed to collected items for the Caring Center (they provide clothing and household items free for families in need) and any financial gift went to the ministry to help with their rent and utilities. The Mary Anna Circle (USFW) met together to prepare Christmas plates to deliver to special members of the community. The congregation also collected 54 shoes boxes for the Samaritan's Purse outreach.

West Branch Friends: Highlights from this past year are: one of their members solicited items and mailed a goodies package to a local soldier serving in Iraq, many members participated in a local CROP walk - organized in large part by Robin Anderson, a Cajun Fest was held to help replenish the Love Fund (which was used to assist local families in need as well as hurricane victims) and the 5th annual peace walk/peace pole/supper celebration was held in December.

Lynnville Friends: The "Operation Christmas Child" shoes box collection was a success. There were 50+ boxes this year. The USFW ladies delivered plates of cheer in December as well as a organized a food drive of non-perishable items for the Door of Faith and Bethel Mission in Des Moines. Bev Van Genderen participated in a recent Leukemia and Lymphoma 'walkathon'. And quilts were given to the Domestic Violence Alternatives/ Sexual Assault Center for use in their shelter.

LeGrand Friends Church: "Bethlehem Star - the Light that Still Shines", a Christmas Dinner Theater was presented in December. The meal included Red Velvet Cake and the infamous cheese and bread. The youth group meeting times were changed this fall. Youth Pastor Will Owens noted that the numbers have increased since changing the meeting times to Sunday afternoon. The USFW approved contributions to the Love Fund whose recipient is Joyce Ajlouny, director of the Rammallah Friends Schools. The church held a traditional candlelight service on December 24th at 6 pm
